BIO

Maia del Estal (b. Argentina, 1993) is a self-taught painter, poet, performance artist and Ikebana practitioner based in Brooklyn.

She grew up in a unique extended family of artists, actors, and political dissidents, influenced by the lively queer counterculture of Buenos Aires. Since a very early age she went to drawing workshops and poetry readings.

Maia started painting abstraction around 14 years old, mixing any type of material on found objects. She participated in many solo shows and group exhibitions since she was 15 years old. In 2015 Maia starts studying Ikenaba acquiring flower arrangement in her artistic practice.

STATEMENT

In my work I try to grasp the feeling of being in love, horny and heart broken.

I'm seduced by how we interact with pain and pleasure.

As a poet, the way I live is intricately connected with the way I feel.

All my artistic expressions come from my variety of emotional states, like a tornado of moods.

I try to deliver the emotion of a certain condition in each of the works, such that my personal struggle functions as a new state of awareness which others may step into, in order to reflect upon or access a new state of understanding.

To embrace darkness.

To transmute pain.
